

Internship – Investment Banking (Technology M&A)

MergerTech Group, a leading boutique technology investment bank, seeks highly motivated interns with strong interpersonal and analytical skills for Summer 2018. The ideal candidate is passionate about technology and M&A, and able to deliver high quality work on multiple projects under tight deadlines.

Interns will gain experience with the full cycle M&A process. This is an opportunity to work on client prospecting, active pitches, and live deal execution. Interns will participate in lean deal teams and have direct access to Managing Directors.

Responsibilities Include:

- Provide assistance to junior and senior bankers across each step of the M&A process
- Provide research, analysis and valuations for current and prospective clients
- Assist in the preparation pitchbooks and other marketing materials to potential clients
- Conduct industry research to identify emerging M&A trends and develop lists of prospective clients
- Assist in the development of teasers, CIMs, buyer lists and other materials central to the M&A process
- Coordinate and update project timelines, pipelines, work plans, progress reports and other tracking tools, including key performance metrics.

Qualifications:

- A track record of superior achievement at top academic institutions
- Strong quantitative, analytical and communication skills
- Proficiency with financial statement analysis and general accounting principals
- Superior attention to detail
- Ability to multitask and work under pressure
- Ability to work independently and function within a team
- Proficiency in Excel and PowerPoint
- Basic understanding of financial data sources, such as Capital IQ

Timeframe:

- Immediate opening
- Minimum of ten weeks
- Start and end date TBD based on candidate schedule

To apply, please send your resume and a cover letter to dwalder@mergertech.com.